PHANG NGA BAY RESORT HOTEL

Phang Nga

Discovery of a Magnificent and Fascinating Land

A new destination rich in natural resources and assets, blessed with nature's own fascinating and magnificent works of arts where a civilization took root in the dim past of pre historical significance.

Today's Phang Nga stands proudly as an exciting new discovery for those who seek to return to Mother Nature, who has been more than kind in blessing the land with her own intriguing creations. Probably her grandest work is the Phang Nga Bay, which borders on the Andaman Sea of the Indian Ocean.

Here is the homeland of the "Sea Gypsy" folks, whose forebears took to the seas from the Malayan Penisula. Although their beliefs and customs in many ways remain unchanged through the years, today some of them have somehow settled on the Panyee Island, where travelers from near and far come to experience their way of life.

Phang Nga burst into the international scene when a Jame Bond Movie featuring that indomitable Secret Agent 007 was filmed in the vicinity. Its unique and breath-taking scenery cannot be denied or minimized.

With more and more visitors discovering this jewel of a destination, accommodation facilities have developed to a satisfactory extent. There's the Phang Nga Bay Resort, a de luxe hotel designed to complement the natural environment, plus quality services and conveniences. Fresh-water swimming pool, a well-designed restaurant serving succulent fresh sea-food plucked daily from the Bay -- king prawns, lobsters, fleshy crabs and fish, shell-fish and oyster, prepared and cooked by chefs specializing in this type of culinary art. Excursions to see and enjoy nature-on-sea both within the Bay and out to the high seas, with fishing equipment available. Or an underwater exploration to see the wonders of submarine nature.

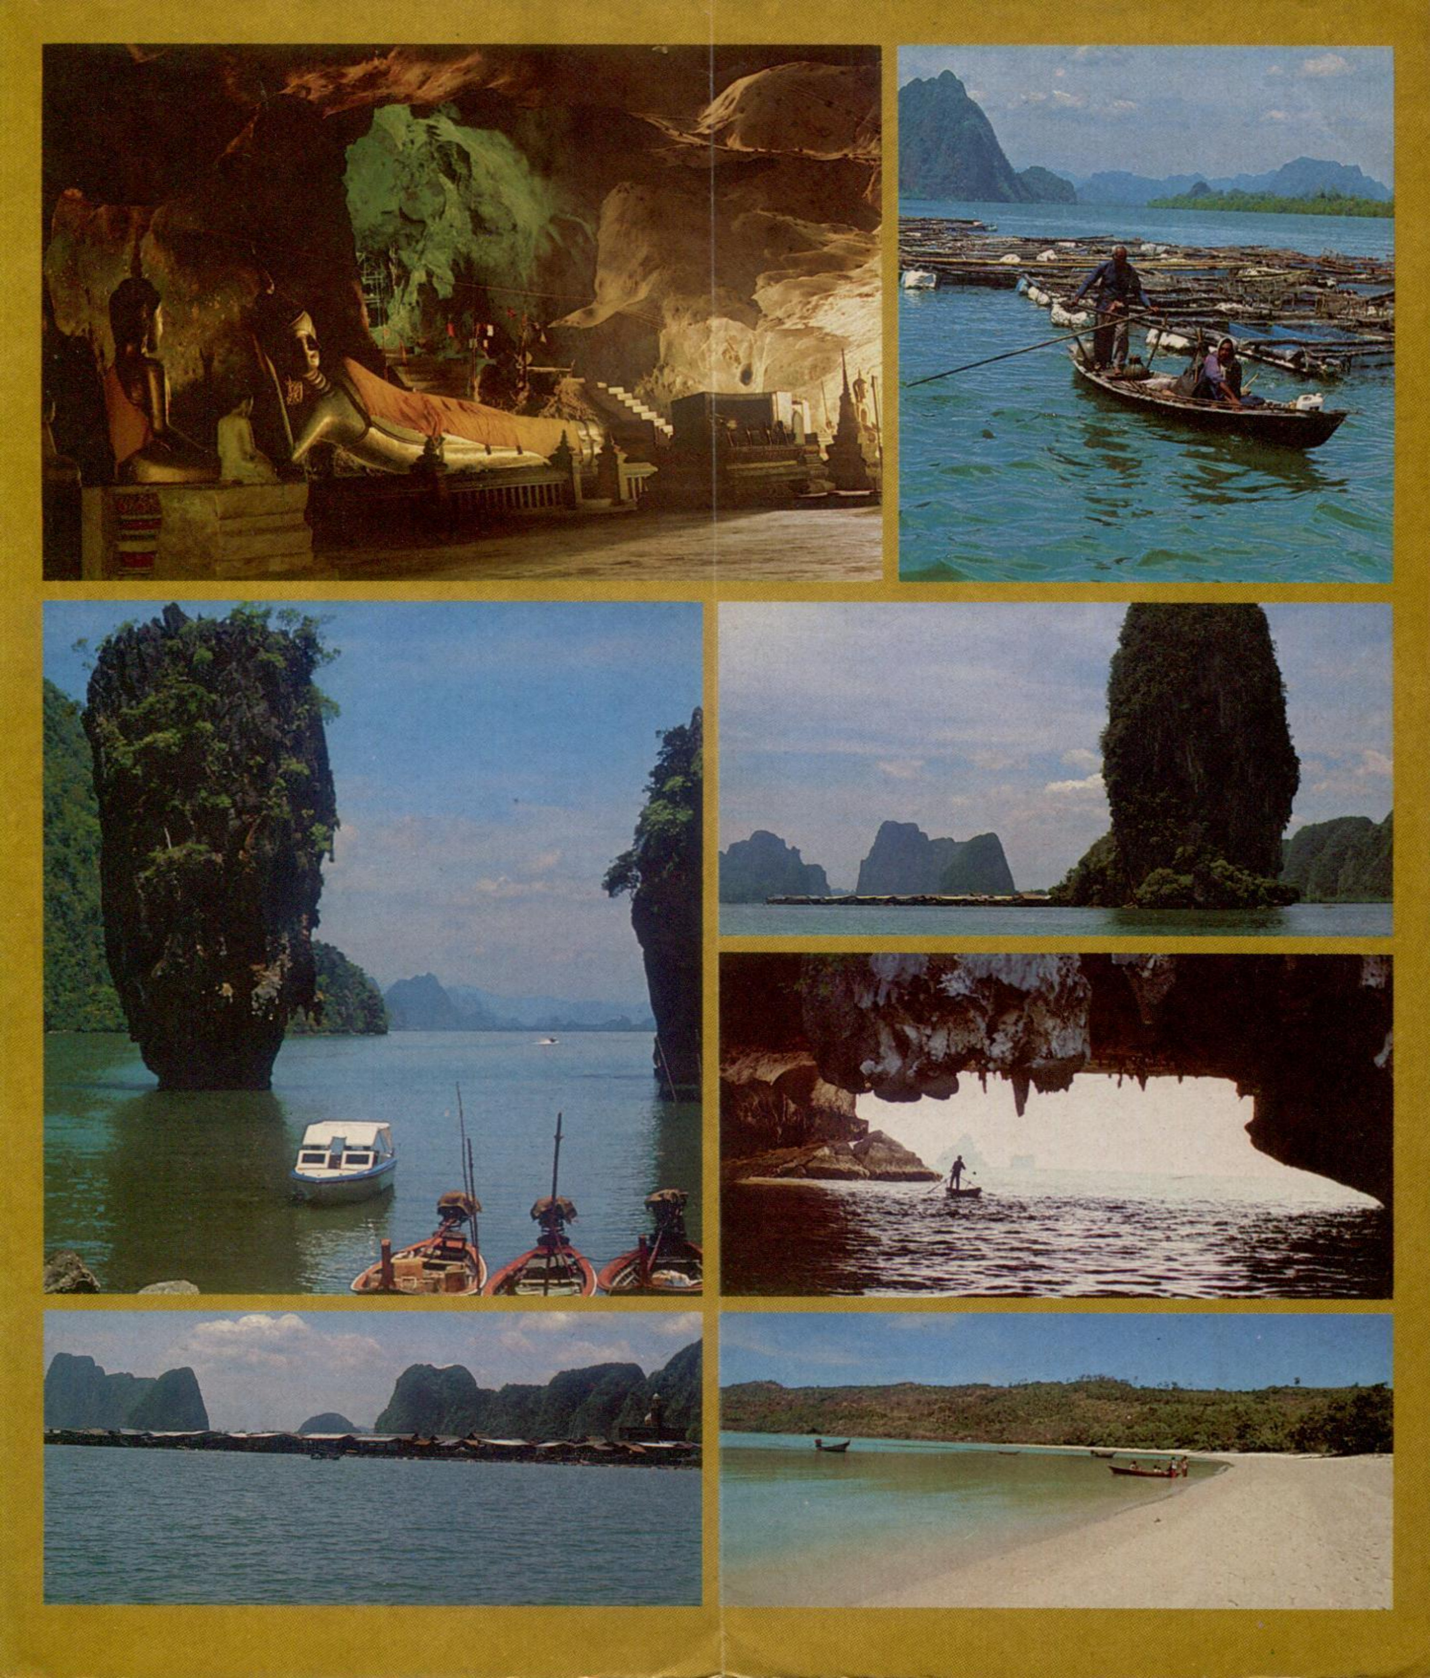

Phang Nga, about 900 kilometers from Bangkok and just 80 kilometers from Phuket, can be reached quite easily by either land or air.

When visiting Phang Nga, make the Phang Nga Bay Resort your jumping-off point to see the many wonders of nature.
